GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 7, 1930

NUMBER 33

Says WILL ROGERS

EVERLY HILLS.—Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I hear over the radio during the various tooth paste hours. I tell you it's a lucky thing for us that people's teeth are in such bad shape or we never would get any amusement at all. In the old days when we did nothing with our teeth till we died off, why we had no amusement at all. We couldn't turn a dial and get our favorites Amos and Andy. Tooth paste has been responsible for more good laughs than Barnums Circus has, and you can use the wrong kind too. According to the announcers, there is various kinds that cause decay, while their kind brings on added growth, so you got to be mighty careful.

Course the best thing in the world in the old days was to chew on a tough piece of steak, or kinder gnaw on and around a bone. But nowadays on account of having to buy so much tooth paste why it don't leave enough to get the steak to whiten and toughen the teeth. A good old rump steak would give your teeth more exercise and build up a foundation than a steel tooth brush would.

But these lettuce sandwiches just don't offer much resistance to the old molars and they don't get much exercise on them. Malted Milk over a soda fountain just might as well be inhaled as far as the teeth is concerned. This Cavalier assisted by Cocktails is another National dish that don't offer much physical resistance to the eye teeth. In fact as far as the old Tusks are concerned there is really no reason for owning them.

An old toothless man or woman is not in-convenienced in the least with our modern type of food. There is nothing that comes in cans that we can't bulldoze with ease and comfort. Our more rough type of food nowadays is a ham sandwich, and the boys that slice it fix it so that the teeth have no function to perform in its digestion.

Most of our up-to-date food is by absorption. It melts in your mouth, so when the old tooth brush gets a crack at the teeth it's about the only thing they have encountered since babyhood. A Wolf has the best looking teeth in the world. They are always white. Even the announcer won't tell you that there is film forms over them. But on the other hand look what the old Coyote misses. He never did hear about Madam Queen, he don't know the King fish from a Setter Pup. He has nothing to console his lonely hours only chewing on some competitor. He has the whitest teeth, but he is not informed on how many times a day the little Baby Wolves should grab a tube of "Never Tarnish" and scrape the wisdom teeth.

If this Country had static for a solid month, there is no telling what would become of people's teeth. But everything is sorter drifting to the sanitary anyhow. In the old days when we wasn't so sanitary, why we were strong enough to withstand all the germs. But nowadays we have to be careful of the Microbes for if they get a hold on us we are gone. We are not physically able to withstand em. In the old days as many as wanted to could drink out of one cup and the last one would just shake his head and swallow down Mike-Robles just as fast as they would accumulate. But now the old individual cup went for over one sitting, or it will knock the second individual right into the infested class. The old fashioned board that the whole family drank out of from birth till death, would kill off more of the modern population than a war. We just ain't built to stand the assaults and batteries of an unwrapped-in-paper container.

But while we have lost in strength and endurance we have gained in amusement and instruction. For there is not an hour of any day that some one on the Air don't keep us warned of what lies in wait for us in case we don't use their remedy. There is just more different things that can happen to us than there used to be.

If you think there is not unemployment just look at these flat golf courses and see the amount of people out of work. Its wonderful exercise. You stand on your feet for 2 hours watching somebody else putt. Its just the old fashioned pool hall moved outdoors but with no chairs around the wall.

You don't hear so much of prohibition lately. Just drinking for the novelty of the thing has about wore off, and the ones that really like it and decided to adopt it seriously have just settled down to steady drinking and are keeping pretty quiet about it.

GRAYLING FLOAT WINS 1ST PRIZE

"MISS GRAYLING" GETS 3RD PLACE IN BEAUTY CONTEST

The Second Annual Eastern Michigan Water Carnival held at Bay City last week came thru with flying colors and proved to be one of the most interesting annual affairs to be staged anywhere in the State of Michigan. After its first year's getaway in 1929 it at once proved its favor so that this year the people knew more of what it was all about and the response throughout all Eastern Michigan was spontaneous far beyond anticipation.

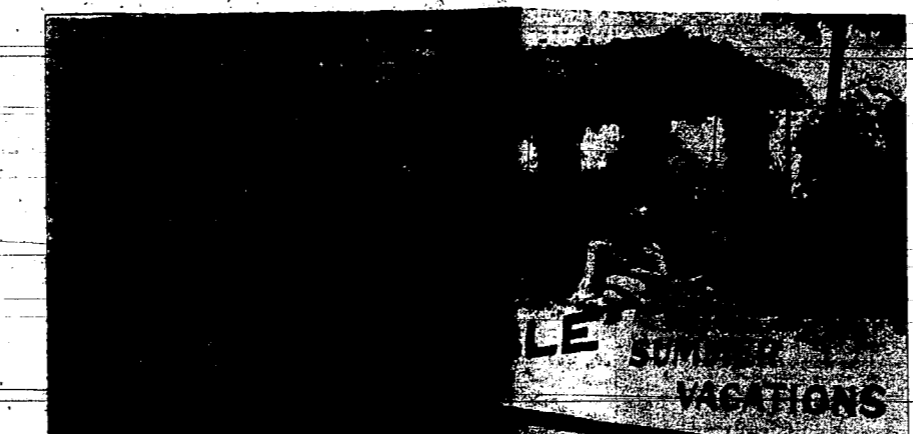

The biggest crowd that ever visited Bay City was there to see the Water Carnival and "Queen" contest and it seemed that nobody wanted to go home after it was all over. It was a show that can never be forgotten. For nearly a year the executive committees and their sub committees worked hard to outline a program of procedure and of entertainment and how well they succeeded is portrayed by the wonderful way it was conducted—not a hitch anywhere and everywhere loud praise for the fine entertainment that was presented.

The opening feature of the carnival was a monster parade scheduled for 1:30 p. m. Thursday. However, before that, nearly seventy young ladies representing their home communities as the Queens and their chaperones had registered at "Queen" headquarters at the Kimbark hotel. These young ladies were at once put to work getting ready to appear before the judges who were to select one of their number as "Miss Eastern Michigan." Thus their activities really began on Wednesday.

Grayling Float Wins 1st Prize
The parade of floats was a beauty and was over three miles in length. There were many wonderfully attractive floats, some representing industrial and business institutions of Bay City and others representing cities in Eastern Michigan. Bands were playing and banners and flags were waving and the sight was most inspiring. A lot of money was spent to make the floats attractive and there was a lot of rivalry in the competition for prizes. What is of special interest to the people of Grayling is the Grayling float, winner of the first prize. It was a beauty and was designed to portray the spirit of the north and especially Grayling's vacation lands and winter sports.

The Grayling float was more than fifty feet in length. It was a bower of spruce and pine trees and branches. In the center section of the float was a large pergola, its roof thatched and supporting columns twined about with spruce branches. Underneath this were six swings in which were seated six bathing girls. Back of this was a golden throne, was seated "Miss Grayling" (Miss Edith Bidvia). Upon the dais before her were Miss Roscommon, Miss Lewiston and a number of other "Queens", all in bathing suits. In the front part of the float the Grayling band of 26 pieces was seated, amidst a bower of spruce and pine trees. All around the side edges of the float were small pine trees. Seated upon cushions, also along the edges of the float, were bathing girls. In all there were about 55 persons on the Grayling float. On the sides were painted banners reading: "Grayling on the AuSable," in large letters, and in smaller letters "Winter Sports" and "Summer Vacations." The effect was beautiful and it was an idea carrying with it a purpose. While there were many wonderful floats in the parade still Grayling's float was outstanding above all others.

The idea of the float originated in the mind of T. F. Marston, secretary of the Tourist association, and he worked out the plans ready for construction. He deserves the lion's share of credit for the float. The plan called for spruce and pine trees galore and the first of the week Clarence Johnson, and Junior Hanson, guided by Morgan Paige who knew just where to get them, gathered in a whole truck load and took them to Bay City. For three days Clarence worked like a beaver without paying help to build the float.

The float was constructed at one of the lumber warehouses of Westover, Kamm Lumber Co. and these men too took a keen interest in the building of it. It required a lot of lumber and good carpenter work and when finished was not only beautiful but was very rigid in its construction as well. Together with the honor of winning first prize there was a purse of $75 in money. The West Branch float won second prize.

The Water Carnival of Bay City and Eastern Michigan is over and we of Grayling who have been so interested and enthusiastic over the success this community was to attain at the splendid fête which has put the Capital City of Winter Sports on the map are sitting back with the satisfied attitude of "I told you so" and smiling that another victory for Grayling has been won.

Miss Grayling, (Edith Bidvia) Queen of Grayling, together with her chaperone and the district chairman, T. W. Hanson and O. P. Schumann, reached Bay City at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and registered at the Kimbark Hotel. Many of the lovely "Queens" and their chaperones had already arrived and the hotel was humming with anticipation.

At four o'clock bathing suits were donned by the queens and a rehearsal staged at the Washington Theatre and from that moment until Sunday morning the queens and chaperones were in a whirl following the program which had been prepared by Bay City for her honor guests.

Miss Grayling was a very popular queen throughout the entire carnival.

THE SPACE FILLER

A. E. Martin
COLD CONSOLATION
Enthusiasts from two of our neighboring towns which had floats in the Water Carnival parade at Bay City last week, as well as entrants in the queen contest, (and the West Branch float was quite a nifty affair, too), were heard to remark that they would be satisfied with anything if they could only "beat Grayling". Well, in light of the fact that Grayling's float topped first prize, and "Miss Grayling" a place in the "first ten", anything we can say would be but cold consolation to the aforementioned enthusiasts, so all we have to offer is the old adage, "If at first you don't succeed, try."

TROUBLE "BRUIN" ON THIS GOLF COURSE

The proprietor of a miniature golf course in Los Angeles, Cal., has placed a live bear on one of the greens, and has taught it to grab at the passing golf balls. This sure makes a "bear" of a hazard. It is now in order for some competitor to place a live ostrich in a like position, and as the ostrich would probably swallow the balls, this would make a "bird" of a hazard—or should we say "birdie?"

TELEPHONE WIRES MIGHT MELT

A nineteen-year-old girl was to start an attempt last Tuesday to make a 100-hour "flagpole sit" on the top of the Chittenden Hotel, Columbus, Ohio, without having any sleep at any time during the trial. Special telephone connections were to be made and receiver placed on the pole so anyone in Columbus could talk with her at any hour of the day or night. It is safe to say that the writer is not the only one who would like to have a few minutes conversation with her over the phone if it were possible to get a long distance connection—and if some of us "old fogies" could express all we would like to say, the wires would hardly stand up under the strain.

AND THE "SPIRITS" LAUGHED

A few evenings ago The Space Filler was making a purchase at the corner grocery—a building (so he has been told) that away back in the pre-Volstead days was used for other purposes than dispensing groceries—when a middle-aged gentleman in uniform came in, and, after glancing around the store, asked for "some of those curly, twisted salty things—I don't know their name." Then The Space Filler imagined he heard a ripple of ironic laughter issuing from the walls as though departed spirits were laughing in their sleeves (if departed spirits wear sleeves)—or perhaps it was the rustling of dry leaves on the "Anheuser Busch"—as the genial "Nick" weighed out the requisite number of PRETZELS and passed them out to the eagerly waiting customer.

NOTICE

The Village tax roll is now in my hands for collection and this is to notify the public that I will be at my store for that purpose. Store open from 8:00 o'clock in the morning, and evenings during the month of July.
Carl W. Peterson, Treasurer.

WOULD RESTORE MICHIGAN FORTS

(By B. F. Emery, former Supt. Mackinac Island State Post).

Our work is not finished—The coming generations must not forget the glorious deeds of those who built these outposts which too soon have been allowed to perish and be forgotten.

Calvin Coolidge.

My attention was called to a clipping from a Grand Rapids paper, wherein it stated that the business men of Mackinaw City planned to start a movement to restore old Fort Michilimackinac, the scene of the Pontiac massacre, near that city. Old Forts far flung over hill and dale, trackless forests, trails and water, frontier posts of our present day civilization and development and more stories of love and adventure, religious zeal and exploitation, of intrigue and treachery. The flags of four nations have flown here, and in crumbling walls and shattered saltports, through which we glimpse a shadowy procession of various types and classes, tell that story of a day that way. This tells of adventure, of travel, for there is a little of gypsy in all of us and the past with its glamour of brave men and beautiful maidens, Courneur DeBois and the dusky squaw, each played their part in the drama of war and peace, the war terrible and relentless, the peace, that which comes with beheading shadows, the peace that with our advancement in science and literature and in those things that tend to make up the nation we are today, and Michigan has played her part in it.

In a report issued by the War Department known as House Document 446-Vol. II, listing Forts, etc., erected in U. S. from its earliest settlement to date, appear the following Michigan Forts:

Fort Dearborn, better known as the Dearborn Arsenal was built about 1830.

Fort St. Joseph built by LaSalle, later captured by the English and then by the Spanish, the only place where the Spanish flag flew in Michigan, hence the name of the hotel at Niles—the Four Flags.

Fort Miami, St. Joseph, built by LaSalle, sometimes known as Fort St. Louis.

Fort Wilkins at the extreme end of Keweenaw Point, preserved as built in 1844.

Old and new Fort Brady at Sault Ste. Marie.

Fort Drummond on Drummond Island, built by the British after the War of 1812 and later when found to be on American territory, abandoned.

Fort LeBoeuf, a French fort back of the present city of St. Ignace (See Wisconsin Pioneer Collection, Vol. 41).

Fort Ignatius on Mackinac Island. In a book published by Thomas Jeffers, geographer to the King in 1763, he says, "Marquette established a mission on the Island of Michilimackinac in 1669, some French soldiers followed and built Fort Ignatius. The following year the mission was abandoned and the fort soon fell in ruin."

Old Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island, built in 1780.

Fort Holmes, built by the British in 1812, on Mackinac Island.

Old Fort Michilimackinac at Mackinaw City, the scene of the Pontiac massacre.

The two forts at the lower end of Lake Huron, the French Fort and the later one built by Captain Gratiot and named after him.

Patrick Shepley's fort on Pine River at St. Clair.

This does not include the various forts in Detroit nor the barracks which stand on Grosse Ile.

In addition, troops were stationed

NEWS REVIEW OF
CURRENT EVENTSDirigible R-100 Makes Safe
Flight From Britain to Montreal, Canada.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

GREAT BRITAIN'S big dirigible, the R-100, made a successful and uneventful crossing of the Atlantic Ocean, taking off from Cardington, 10 miles north of London, on Wednesday, and reaching Montreal about 10 hours later.

There, at St. Hubert airport, she was tied up to the mooring mast that had been built for the purpose, and her passengers landed, well pleased with the trip.

Until the airship reached the vicinity of Newfoundland she maintained a speed of between 50 and 70 knots, but the ever-present fog then forced a slowing down until she got well into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, having passed over Quebec the airship sustained some damage to the fabric covering one of the fins, and the motors were shut off until repairs had been made.

This delayed the arrival at Montreal somewhat and prevented the flying up of the ship to the mooring mast until early Friday morning. Throughout the voyage radio communication was kept up with bases in England and Canada and with ocean liners. The northerly route was taken, following the great circle by way of north Ireland to a point south of Cape Farewell, Greenland, then to Belle Isle and along the St. Lawrence river to Montreal.

Rear Admiral R. S. Booth was in command, with four officers and a civilian crew of 89 men. Among the few passengers were Lieut. Com. Charles Demitrousky, managing director of the firm that built the R-100, Lieut. Com. R. S. Booth, President of the British aircraft carrier Coirageous, and Maj. G. H. Scott, famous British airship commander.

CANADA'S parliamentary elections were watched with great interest because the results are likely to be important to the United States as well as to the Dominion. The Liberal government, headed by Mackenzie King, was decisively defeated by the Conservative party, led by R. B. Bennett, Premier. Mr. King himself was re-elected to parliament, but many members of his cabinet lost out, these including Finance Minister Charles A. T. Ming, who drew up the budget increasing tariffs against the United States and lowering them to Great Britain, which constituted the main issue of the campaign.

A quick call to a session of the Canadian parliament is considered one of the main results of the political campaign.

Canada's extension of tariff preferences to Great Britain, without exacting tariff preferences in return, can be expected to be withdrawn or modified as the result of the election. The election turned it down in defeating the government candidates, Canada.

In other words, will make its trade treaties with the world, irrespective of empire ties and sentiment.

The St. Lawrence seaway plan is once more thrown in the realm of political controversy and uncertainty.

Church

John Wilfred Greenwood, Minister

Sunday, August 10, 1930.

10:30 A. M. Special speaker: The honorable Luren D. Dickinson.

The Lieutenant Governor in Grayling this coming Sunday. Mr. Dickinson is the popular Lieutenant Governor of the State and is one of the most widely known men in the political life of this state. His wide knowledge of Michigan affairs makes him particularly fitted to give an interesting and helpful address and his many years of service in the church have endeared him to the people to a most enviable degree.

Let Grayling do herself proud in having a large attendance at church on Sunday morning.

PRESIDENT HOOVER has created a commission to study the question of unemployment, statistics and has invited labor, business and economic groups to select its members. Ethelbert Stewart, commissioner of labor statistics of the Department of Labor; William M. Stewart, director of the bureau of census for the Department of Commerce, and a representative of the Department of Agriculture will be ex officio members.

In announcing the appointment of this commission the President defended his practice of naming such investigating bodies, and added: "As we need the best brains of the country to assist in government and in the coordination of public efforts I shall appoint others."

RUSSIAN goods will not be kept out of this country merely because they come from a Soviet state. This in a sentence was the stand taken by President Hoover, and consequently Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman had to reconsider his decision denying the entry of two ship loads of Russian wood pulp at New York imported by the Amtorg Trading corporation. Any action barring Soviet goods the President held must be based solely on the law applicable to all nations and designed to exclude convict made goods and prevent "dumping" practices on the part of countries competing in American trade.

use of firearms only in self-defense. He called the administrators and special agents all in to Washington and laid before them a statement of his policies which was said to have been approved by President Hoover and Attorney General Mitchell. Schools will be set up to teach the agents "to use their brains rather than their hands in discharging their duties" to train them in methods of gathering evidence, in knowledge of the law and in habits of discipline.

Five major points were emphasized in the Woodcock statement aside from the proposal to maintain high personal standards for agents. These were: (1) Establishment of a system of daily reports to Washington by deputy administrators; (2) scientific research into such problems as drunkenness, statistics, alcoholism, deaths and hop and corn sugar production; (3) efforts to obtain more state aid in dry law enforcement; (4) efforts to secure more uniform sentences for violators; and (5) concentration upon the commercial liquor traffic rather than upon "pitiful, playish, non-commercial cases."

Supervisors of industrial alcohol permits also met in Washington and, with their chief, James M. Moran, considered how they might best combine their efforts with those of the prohibition enforcement unit.

President Hoover's law enforcement commission will issue a second formal report of its work this fall. Arrangements for formulation of the document will be completed at a meeting here early in October.

Leaders of nearly all the dry organizations in the country issued a signed declaration of policy which was looked upon by many as a recognition of the growing antagonism to prohibition enforcement as it has been carried on in the past. In it they repudiate all enforcement policies that do not regard and safeguard every personal right guaranteed by the Constitution, and pledge themselves to a campaign of education. The declaration states it is the paramount purpose of the Eighteenth amendment to destroy traffic in intoxicating beverages, and that the enemies of prohibition try to make this appear as an offensive summary legislation.

OUT of the welter of Democratic aspirants for the gubernatorial nomination in Texas, "Ma" Ferguson, former governor, and Ross S. Sterling, wealthy Houston publisher, emerged in the lead, and the victor will be determined in a run-off primary, since neither of them had a majority. State Senator Love, who led the successful bolt in Texas from Al Smith in 1928, was among those badly beaten. United States Senator Morris Sheppard was renominated.

There will have to be a run-off election in Oklahoma also. The leaders in the Democratic race for governor were "Alfalfa Bill" Murray and Frank Buttram, and for United States senator, Thomas P. Gore, the blind former senator, and Charles J. Wrightman.

WITH virtually no opposition the London naval treaty was passed by both houses of the British parliament and then was made effective so far as Great Britain is concerned by receiving the formal approval of King George under a special procedure instituted during the reign of Henry VIII.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California, leader of the opposition to the treaty in the United States, declared that the alacrity with which parliament ratified the pact was proof that the British were only too eager to seal a bargain perpetuating their control of the seas.

IN LINE with the Hoover program of helping business, representatives of the various branches of the building industry and allied agencies of finance met in Chicago and created a permanent national conference on construction. Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the national building survey conference last fall, presided and was made head of a committee to complete arrangements for the organization of the conference. A statement issued said:

"The meeting was held for the purpose of reviewing the principal intergroup problems of the construction industry and to determine the practicability of developing a continuing organization to assist in the solution of such problems."

"Aspects of realty finance, including problems of legislation, appraisal of property, methods of home financing and credit practices were discussed. Possible means of securing greater stabilization of the construction industry, a number of aspects of taxation and practical methods of introducing economies in the building and financing of residences and income properties, were considered."

The Wafists or nationalists of Egypt succeeded in their campaign against King Fuad, Abbas Hilmi, former khedive who was deposed by the British, and was restored to the throne. The British government is said to be disposed to accept this result, though both Italy and France have declared their opposition. The Wafists assert that so long as Fuad is on the throne there will be no peace in Egypt and no possibility of settling disputes with Great Britain.

UNDER the guidance of Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock, dry enforcement is to be carried out in a manner that will not be so likely to arouse the rage of the citizenry. Mr. Woodcock proposes to have the dry law agents trained "to act always as gentlemen" and to resort to the Grayling golf course is experiencing a very successful year and has been very generously patronized by not only its members but by hundreds of visitors. For several years it has been a struggle to keep up the finances and the course in good condition, but the tide seems to have turned due to the liberal green fees it has been receiving this summer. The engagement of Dell Daly as club professional has added much to the interest of the club and has encouraged many new players. Just at present, due to the lack of rain, the fairways are somewhat brown but nevertheless the course is attracting a lot of favorable comment.

Grayling Is It

Last Friday the Portage Lake Club of Professionals appeared in the village covered with war paint, lined up as follows: Ebern Hanson, 1st base; Mr. Foxwell, 2nd base; Marjorie Hanson, 3rd base; Hal Davis, R. field; Harry Pond, L. field; Dr. S. N. Inley, C. field; Oscar Hanson, shortstop; Holger Hanson, pitcher; and Fr. Reiss, catcher.

As our regular club was engaged, the Grayling Stars, all amateurs and infants in the work volunteered to interest them and selected as follows: Tom Inley, 1st base; P. Howland, 2nd base; John Morrison, 3rd base; Mike Brenner, RF, and official coach; Dr. C. C. Wescott, LF; Chas. Howland, CF; Geo. McCullough, short stop; Sam Phelps, pitcher; H. Peterson, catcher, and L. Metevier, Super-numerary, to take the place of the regular who felt by the wayside, which happened to be Dr. Wescott. Bob Rangan and Joe Kraus acted as umpires.

After the preliminary skirmishing the game was called, Portage Lake at the bat. The Stars let them make a run to give them a little confidence and took their place.

As soon as Fr. Reiss had led Mr. Powell to his base and instructed him that it was only his duty to hold the thing down and keep the Stars from stealing it, and had shown Hal Davis, Harry Pond and Dr. Inley what was meant by Right, Left and Center field, and told them if they saw anything coming, to run, but to be careful and not run over the shortstop, and had changed ends of the bat in the hands of Marjorie Hanson, who was swinging it by the club end and the game proceeded. We are unable to give the full details of each inning, as our reporter fainted at the spectacle, but at the end of the 9th inning the score stood 20 to 8 in favor of the Stars, on the left side. It was a great game and fun galore.

Britain's airship R-100, greatest that ever rose into the air, has safely crossed the Atlantic and arrived at Montreal, with thirty-seven crew and seven passengers. The R-100, faster than the Graf Zeppelin, represents Britain's determination to rule the ocean or air, as for centuries she has ruled the ocean of water, regardless of expense.

A few years ago the average man could not have imagined that. Now that it has happened, not one in a hundred realizes what it means. Long after steam railroads were operating successfully in England, wise men, in and out of parliament, said the locomotive could not possibly be a success.

Many equally "wise" still think that "flying never can be practical."

New York city's population is fixed at 6,959,195. It will pass 7,000,000 in a few months.

Manhattan island, which until recently was all of New York, has lost 18.6 per cent in ten years. This is made up by gains in the outlying boroughs, 19.1 per cent in Queens, 29.0 per cent in Brooklyn, 73 per cent in the Bronx.

Queens is probably the fastest growing big place in the world. Manhattan still holds the pocketbook.

Hundreds of thousands work there and sleep elsewhere. Americans from all over the nation come to spend their money, between fourteenth and fifth streets, to say nothing of what they spend downtown in Wall street.

When you are traveling serenely in an express train and it stops suddenly you put your head out of the window to look, or you ask the conductor, "What is the matter?"

We were all traveling in the prosperity express train, it stopped with a jolt last October and everybody is still asking, "What is the matter?"

Adolph Zukor, an intelligent American business man, who retains his capacity to keep cool and think clearly even when business is not so good, says:

"For one thing, we had lost our heads. We began to think about a dollar as we ought to think about a 25-cent piece."

"After a while we shall learn what money is, what thrift and common sense mean. Then we shall be better off than we ever were."

"Nothing better than this so-called 'slump' could have happened to us. 'For my part, I was never more optimistic in my life.'"

Mr. Zukor, of course, speaks sincerely and his optimism is justified.

This country needed a lesson and is having it.

How long it will last nobody knows.

Every little while something reminds you of two words that the wise Greeks wrote above their temple doors: "Maden Agan," meaning "Shun Excess."

Aristotle put it almost as briefly: "Not too much, not too little."

This time the "Maden Agan" reminder comes from Gertrude Ederle, who swam the English channel, amazing the world, four years ago. She has become almost entirely deaf as the result of the fourteen hours spent in the cold English channel.

The "outboard motor" idea, used for years on little boats, is successfully applied to the air.

Myrten Johnson, from Oakland's field, in a glider with a thirty horsepower engine attached, went up 14,000 feet. Boys and young men will want to experiment with that.

John MacDonald years ago swore that Tom Mooney and Billings were responsible for a bomb that destroyed many lives. Now he swears his original testimony was perjury. "If he is telling the truth this time," Mooney and Billings will, of course, be set free.

How are the seven justices of California's Supreme court to know whether MacDonald was lying then, or is lying now? Knowledge of human nature may help. One thing is certain, MacDonald committed perjury, then or now. The governor and the judges might well hesitate to keep man in jail on his testimony.

Canada's election surprised many of our friends in the north.

Mackenzie King, who has been prime minister for twelve years, lost the election to a Conservative, a lawyer named Bennett.

King, educated at Harvard, was always on friendly terms with the United States. Perhaps his defeat means that Canada doesn't like our new tariff.

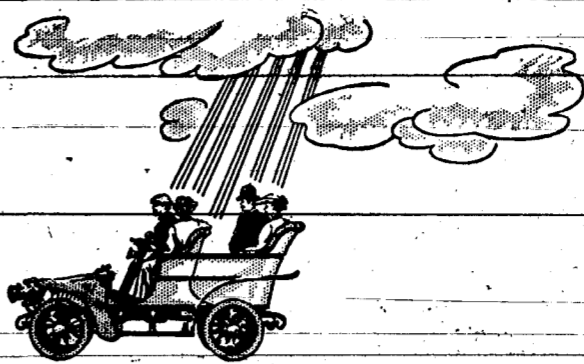

For the first time a woman is elected to the Canadian parliament. Nine more that wanted to be elected failed.

Turkish territory was invaded by savage tribesmen coming out of Persia. Kemal Pasha threw his troops into Persia to get them and killed thousands of them.

The house centipede is not a true insect, but a species of "thousand legs". It aids in keeping down the number of such pests as house flies, roaches, moths, and other insects. Centipedes seldom bite but should they do so dress the wound with household ammonia. To get rid of centipedes, kill all individuals that appear and dust any moist places around pipes and so on with pyrethrum powder.

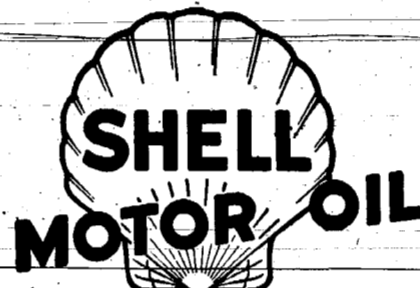

YOU WOULDN'T BUY A CAR WITHOUT A Top

Somebody has said that the automobile buyer of twenty-five years ago was lucky if the price he paid included the steering wheel. Tops and many other features that are standard equipment now were accessories then. Even engine performance is taken for granted today. That's partly because Shell Motor Oil has helped make the automobile amazingly dependable. Shell Motor Oil has constantly anticipated lubrication requirements. It is ready now for the cars that will be announced next year. Because of Shell's low-temperature refining of Nature's best balanced crude, Shell Motor Oil is never scorched, never weakened before it reaches you. Naturally, regular users experience long, trouble-free motor life. Have you tried it?—It's as modern as tomorrow.

Bordeau mixture is best for the control of most leaf diseases of garden plants. It also wards off flea beetles. It is better to spray with Bordeaux before rather than after rains, provided the spray has time to dry on the leaves. Intervals between applications depend on the weather. Spray more often if it is rainy or muggy, with fogs and heavy dews, which are favorable to the development of diseases. If the weather is dry, allow longer intervals between sprays.

New Ford Truck With Closed Cab

NEW Ford Model AA trucks and Model A light delivery cars were announced this week by the Ford Motor Company and are on display in the show rooms of Ford dealers.

Changes in the trucks are principally in the front end, which has been completely redesigned, and in the cab. The radiator is higher with more room for the radiator, fenders are wider and flowing, and a black cowl strip adds a note of distinction.

The new Model AA trucks with the four-speed transmission introduced several months ago may be had with enclosed or open cab. The enclosed cab, shown above, is all steel. It is low in appearance yet with ample head room. The open cab is of black rubber.

top material and is easily removed. Both cabs are equipped with windshields of Triplex shatterproof glass and vacuum type windshield wipers.

Model AA trucks may be had with a platform body, which can be equipped with stakes or a panel body. The chassis has many improvements, including the four-speed transmission, larger front brakes, stronger springs, power take-off opening and optional dual rear wheels.

The Model A line of new commercial cars comprises a light delivery truck with pick-up body, a deluxe delivery truck, a small panel truck and a station wagon. These cars have the smaller wheels and larger tires of the new Ford passenger cars.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Breeding cows on the range should be kept in good condition. In case of shortage of good pasture in the summer it is often advisable to feed some alfalfa hay or cottonseed cake.

Onions for storage should be well ripened and thoroughly cured. Do not store "thick pecks" or those that are immature or soft. Good storage onions will rattle almost like blocks of wood when poured from one container to another.

The feeding of some of the succulent feeds to cows too close to milking time is likely to cause undesirable flavors and odors in the milk, says the U. S. Bureau of Dairy Industry. Some of these feeds are: green alfalfa, cabbage, turnips, rape, and kale; and silage made from corn, alfalfa, sweet clover, or soybeans. It is well to feed these feeds within a few hours before milking.

Flea Precautions

If your house is full of fleas, they are probably present from your dog or cat, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. To destroy fleas on pet animals apply Dettol powder or wash them in a fairly weak solution of saponified cresote or kerosene emulsion. Keep pet animals out of the house. Scatter about 5 pounds of flaked naphthalene over the floor of each infested room, keep the room closed for 12 hours, then sweep up the naphthalene remaining. Keep animals and poultry from beneath buildings (where fleas breed), and clean up trash in such places. Infested areas should be sprayed with creosote oil and the ground where young fleas are growing should be covered with salt and wet down well.

The matter of variety and contrast in the texture and flavor of the foods combined in one meal is not always given sufficient thought. Serve something crunchy like toast or browned crumbs on a sautéed dish, something soft as a white sauce or custard, something crisp and fresh, like lettuce or cold slaw, to give variety in texture. For variety in flavor some foods should be bland or mild, like potatoes or bread; some should have a pronounced flavor, as in the case of rare steak, roast lamb, ham, or cheese, or some of the vegetables such as cauliflower, cabbage, onions, green peppers. There should also be something sour in itself, like tomato or pickles, or like spinach or beets, something that is ordinarily served with vinegar, or a salad with French dressing. Sweet flavor is usually provided in the dessert, or it may be introduced elsewhere, as in canned sweet potatoes, or as a jelly with meat. Five food groups should also be represented—vegetables and fruit, cereal or starchy foods, efficient protein foods, fats, and sugars. The relative proportions of foods chosen from these groups should supply sufficient minerals and vitamins.

After the lambs have been weaned or marketed, it is a good time to dispose of ewes that are undesirable for another year's breeding. Ewes of the mutton breeds do not ordinarily breed well or keep in good condition after 5 years of age, though their usefulness depends more on the condition of their teeth than on their age. Fine-wool ewes usually are useful to a later age. Mark non-breeding ewes, poor milkers, light shearers, and mothers of inferior lambs when these defects are discovered, and dispose of such ewes. Aged ewes should be sold before they become too run down to be valuable to the butcher.

AMERICA LEADS EUROPE IN COMMERCIAL FLYING SAYS DOOLITTLE

Declares Europe Excels Military Aviation, Upon Return Here

Back from a three month's survey of both commercial and military aviation in Europe during which various types of American-made planes were demonstrated to European government officials and aviation leaders, James H. Doolittle, former Lieutenant of the Army Flying Service, now Director of Aviation for the Shell Petroleum Corporation arrived in St. Louis yesterday, optimistic as to the outlook for the marketing of American-made planes in Europe but stating that European nations are beginning to challenge America's supremacy of the air and even now surpass us in military flying although we are far ahead of them in commercial aviation, he said.

Doolittle, who during his army days was a famous stunt and race pilot, and is widely known for his blind flying experimental work for the Guggenheim Foundation, attributed our loss of military supremacy in the air to the abandonment of racing. "The army stopped building racing planes in 1925," he said. "Since then we have added but very little to the speed of our pursuit planes. The fastest ships we've got today are the old racers built in 1925. But the Italians and other countries have continued racing activities, and the lessons they learned by designing, building and flying faster machines have enabled them to surpass us. Some of the European racing planes can outfly the best we've got by ninety miles an hour."

Doolittle made the survey of European flying with a demonstration group which included Maj. Melvin Hall, chief of the survey; Capt. John K. Cannon, Lieut. James E. Parker, and another pilot and two mechanics. The survey was sponsored by the Curtiss interests for the purpose of developing European markets for American-made airplanes.

The survey was begun at Athens, Greece, after which the demonstration group consisting of four planes, pursued, observation, training and

TO EXPERIMENT WITH FOREST FIRES

With G. I. Stewart, well known forester, appointed as supervisor, the Michigan Forest Fire Experiment Station in Roscommon County is ready to function.

The Station, containing about 1,700 acres of varied timber growth in Roscommon County will be operated by the Forest Fire Division of the Department of Conservation, with the Federal Forest Fire Service cooperating.

Mr. Stewart, who will have charge of all the experimental work has had several years' experience as a forester. He has also had experience with the State Land Economic Survey.

Much of the preliminary work, including the building of an extensive fire line system, and the installation of experimental equipment has now been completed.

For some unaccountable reason an impression has developed in some parts of the state that the intention is to burn the entire 1,700 acre plot of land, a plan, according to Mr. Stewart, which is not only impractical but also would be a waste of money.

It is not our intention to burn over large areas of land experimentally, but rather very small plots and strips. When these plots and strips are burned, they will be adequately protected and will not be over one or two acres in area. The area burned in a season will be so small that the result will be of great value in the study of forest fires occurring in Michigan.

It is not our intention to burn over large areas of land experimentally, but rather very small plots and strips. When these plots and strips are burned, they will be adequately protected and will not be over one or two acres in area. The area burned in a season will be so small that the result will be of great value in the study of forest fires occurring in Michigan.

Michigan has been spending approximately $250,000 a year in controlling forest fires and not a dollar in research work to modernize and develop better methods of control which could naturally be expected to result in less acreage burned and at a smaller cost per acre.

In view of this, the interested parties, the Michigan Department of Conservation and the United Forest Fire Service, have established the forest fire experiment station. Here it is intended to study: Are weather, fire damage, control methods, improvement of equipment, cost and maintenance of fire lines, and chemical suppression. There will also be a school of instruction for field men in the methods of fire control.

It is seemingly impossible to carry on experiments on uncontrolled running fires as our first thought is to put out the fire and not to experiment. To carry on such experiments as weather studies and intensity in the rate of burning, requires considerable preparation previous to the burning. The practicability of the use of chemicals on fires requires that they be used in different strengths and combinations. This is hardly possible on uncontrolled fires.

ALL NINE YEARS: KONJOLA BRINGS PROMPT RELIEF

New Medicine Makes Real Record For Detroit Man's Stomach Ailment Soon Banished

MR. JOHN M. CAVANAUGH

"I suffered considerable anguish for about nine years with stomach trouble," said Mr. John M. Cavanaugh, 1233 Fifteenth street, Detroit. "During this entire period of time, I was subject to frequent vomiting spells, and particularly so around midnight. These attacks of indigestion caused me much misery because of the swollen condition of my stomach. My liver was bad, too, and I felt so miserable that I feared I would have to stop working."

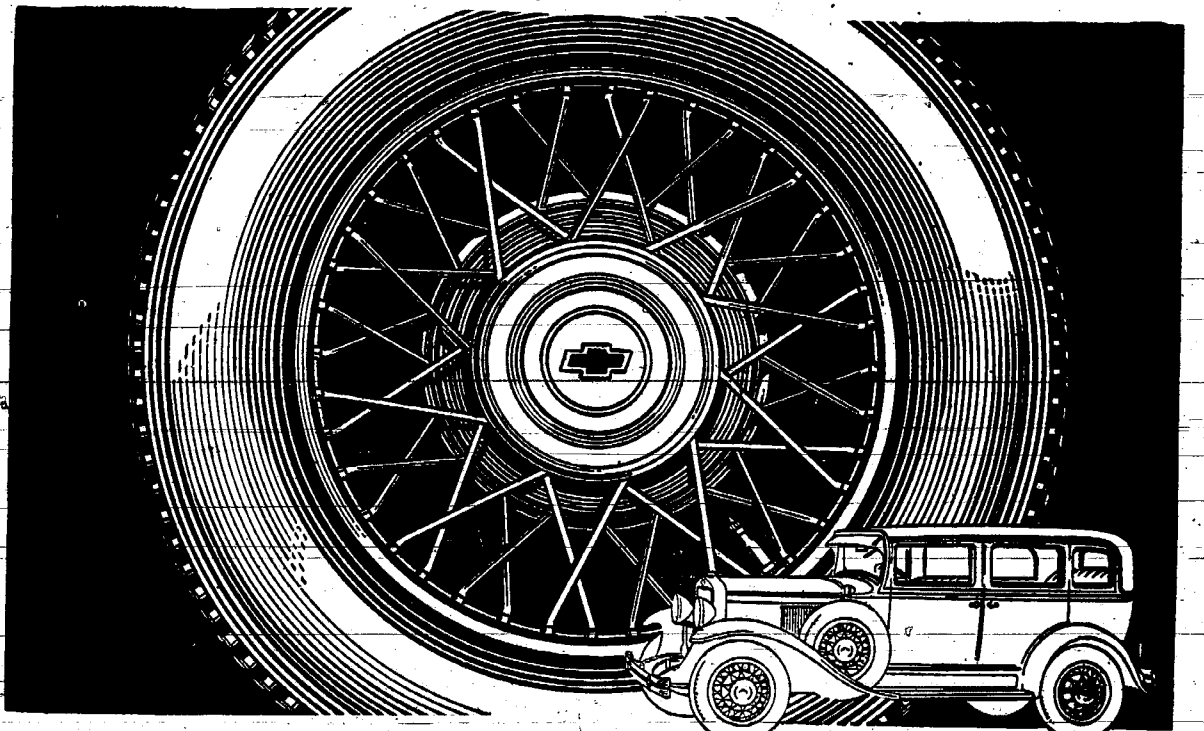

"I had great success with Konjola. I have taken four bottles and all my health troubles have been corrected. I am no longer subject to attacks of indigestion, nor do I have vomiting spells after meals. I eat what I wish without fear of discomfort and I feel much better in every way."

Konjola should be taken over a period of from six to eight weeks and is recommended for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Grayling, Mich., at the Mac & Gidley Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

SIX-CYLINDER SMOOTHNESS AT LOW COST

TRAINING CHILDREN IN THE USE OF MONEY

A very simple method of starting children in the use of their allowance is that employed by social service agencies in dealing with foreign or illiterate families. It consists of several envelopes—preferably stout manila for durability—one for each kind of expenditure. Two would be enough for a child at first, one marked "To spend" and one "To save for something nice."

Many parents give their children a few pennies each week when they are but four or five years old. When a child has learned to make change, to add or subtract small amounts, and can be sent to the store, he is old enough to have some money of his own to handle.

The envelope system is a help until he can write his "accounts" in a book. Then he should be taught gradually how to find out what he has spent and what is left, how to save for definite purchases, greatly desired for himself or for gifts, and ultimately how to manage larger sums which include personal money and money for definite uses such as "school," "car fare," and "lunches."

A child who is old enough to ride on street cars alone is ready for a notebook system of accounts. As the number and kind of expenses increase, the Bureau of Home Economics does not consider the envelope system satisfactory. It necessitates keeping more money on hand than is desirable. It provides no permanent record on which future estimates can be made. It is confusing because in order to make change money is transferred from one envelope to another.

By the time a boy or girl is in the first grammar grade or ready for high school, a clothing allowance may be added and its use taught. This is a good time to introduce a check for about three months.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 7, 1930

I have an Irish acquaintance whom I always suspected possessed a heart of gold. Recently he did me a great kindness and in thanking him I remarked, "I'm afraid I shall not have a chance to do you a favor like this." "Well, me boy," he replied, "then do someone else a favor." This Irishman's church is not my church for I haven't any church, his creed is not my creed for I haven't any creed, but the religion which is his "rule and guide of faith," is good enough for me and if there were more of it in the world there would be in the world more hearts of pure gold.—Exchange.

with nearly everyone. Her gracious but modest and reserved manner won the heart of everyone who came in contact with her and won favorable comment from the judges.

Besides following the program which we are giving you in this issue, Miss Grayling and her chapter were guests of honor on a delightful yacht trip on the "Captiva" through the courtesy of Mr. H. B. Smith of Bay City who has a fine summer home on the Ausable river near Grayling, and who has become interested in Grayling and Grayling activities.

On Thursday evening at the Fair grounds the queen crowning spectacle was the big feature of the evening which took place before a record crowd. When Mr. Wintz of the Zigfield Folies announced the decision of the judges, he named the queen of the Eastern Michigan court first and when the first lady of the attending court proved to be Miss Grayling, a deafening roar of applause burst forth from Miss Grayling's friends, but none was more happy than Miss Grayling's champion when Grayling's queen stepped to the front of the stage. There were ten girls chosen for the Eastern Michigan court and it was a fine honor to be selected one of the ten.

The queen of Eastern Michigan to-day is a young woman of about 18 years of age, with a face that is a perfect example of the beauty of the East. She is a native of Grayling and is a member of the Grayling chapter of the Eastern Michigan court.

STATE TROOPERS USE CHEVROLET CARS

The automobile, as a necessary adjunct to crime detection and prevention, plays an integral part in activities at the New York State Police barracks.

The State Troopers, under Major John Warner, now operate 180 cars, of which 82 are Chevrolets, and many of the duties the cars are called on to perform rival the tests on an automobile manufacturer's proving ground.

Yearly mileages up to 40,000 or 50,000 miles, much of it at high speeds, are common, and the sudden starting and stopping to which the Troopers' cars are constantly subjected, put the mechanical features of the cars to unusual strain, it was pointed out.

An unusually spectacular feat in which the cars recently participated was in getting the local unit to Auburn in quick time during the Auburn prison riot. The distance between the two towns 58 miles, was covered by Chevrolets in 55 minutes, officers reported.

The New York State Police are only one of many federal, state and municipal police forces throughout the country using Chevrolets extensively in battling the criminal element. The satisfactory service rendered by Chevrolet dealers has been a major factor in this, explained, in the extensive use of this make of car by the troopers during the past few years.

Black Second Choice, Says Body Engineer For Oakland

Blue probably will reign supreme as the most popular color for automobile bodies during the remainder of 1930, it is predicted by W. R. Miller, body engineer for the Oakland Motor Car company.

Black, he believes, will finish the year as second choice, with green and brown running a close contest for third place. Recent mid-year color changes in the Oakland Eight and Pontiac Six

Mr. Milner says, have been made in accordance with the color preference of automobile buyers. Blue with black trim was chosen for the first half of the year on the Oakland Coupe, Pontiac Two-Door and Pontiac Custom Sedan. Black with various contrasting trims has been selected for the Oakland Four-Door and the Pontiac Roadster, Coupe and Sport Coupe. Brown and brown trim appears on the Oakland Custom Sedan and the Pontiac Phaeton, while the Oakland Phaeton and Roadster carry tan with brown trim.

Accurate forecasts as to what colors will be most popular may be obtained from Mr. Milner says, from the Automobile Color Index published monthly by the Duco Color Advisory Service which bases its "color ratings" upon the national demand for various colors of Duco.

SALESMAN DRIVES 17,500 MILES IN 125-DAY JOURNEY

Auto Confers Tremendous Advantage Over Old Time "Drummer"

The vital importance of automobile transportation to the modern salesman is revealed in the experience of John Sullivan who has traveled 17,500 miles by motor during the last 125 days for the Albert L. Brahm Co., produce merchants of Pittsburgh, an average of 140 miles per day. It is obvious that the automobile confers upon the present day salesman a tremendous advantage over the "drummer" who rode passenger trains, way freight and livery rigs during the early years of the century.

Driving an Oakland Eight Sedan, Mr. Sullivan in four months covered more territory and covered it more efficiently than he could have done in a full year of traveling in the pre-automotive era. On level stretches of open road he says he frequently drives his car at speeds as high as 78 to 80 miles per hour. Recently he surmounted the Laurel Ridge of the Allegheny Mountains, a climb of nearly 3,000 feet in high gear at an average speed of 60 miles per hour. Testing the water level in the Oakland's Cross-Flow radiator after this severe run, Mr. Sullivan found that it required some what less than a pint.

During this 17,500 miles, he has driven the Oakland, he says the crankcase has received 50 quarts of oil, an average oil mileage of 350 miles to one quart.

Every time she wants to veto some proposition in Europe, England says she is afraid it will interfere with the prerogatives of the League of Nations. At other times she doesn't care much about the League's prerogatives.

LESS NOISE

Some people who live in small towns like the quiet atmosphere. They object to having this disturbed by every kind of noise-maker known to man. Of late Midland has had its share of noise of all kinds. Auto horns tooting and exhaust banging seem not enough.

The most recent cause for complaint is the loud siren attached to airplanes and the calliope sounding its shrill notes as it parades up and down the street. Sick people and those who must sleep in the daytime are disturbed sufficiently by barking dogs, blaring radios and the lad who is learning how to blow a horn without adding this new nuisance.

We suggest an ordinance against preventable noises—including noises of all kinds. All those in favor say, "Aye."—Midland Republican.
